COURSE OF STUDIES.

SUB-PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

Reading—Chart, using word and phonic methods as far as possible. Blackboard for additional exercises, written in plain script. First Reader. Lessons short and frequent. Guard against whining, and sing-song tones.

Arithmetic—Counting with Numeral frame and objects; Addition and Subtraction, as presented in the first seventy-five pages of the first book of Robinson's Shorter Course, (the book for the use of teachers only,) with slate and blackboard exercises in small numbers.

Oral Instruction—Short daily lessons on one or more of the following topics:

1. Names, common forms, colors, qualities, size, weight, and use of familiar objects.
2. Descriptions of articles of food, drink, clothing, fuel, light, and familiar tools and household implements.
3. Plants, flowers, personal habits, conduct of life, and care of body and health.

Language—Correction of common errors in speech. Oral descriptions of objects and pictures by the children. Answers to questions to be in complete sentences, correctly expressed.

Writing—On slate in script, from copies on blackboard.

Drawing—On slate from blackboard, by combining and grouping straight and curved lines so as to form simple, familiar figures and designs. Copying of leaves, pictures, &c.

Calisthenics—Exercises from three to five minutes several times a day, between the periods of recess as presented in Mason's Manual of Gymnastics. The room always to be well ventilated.

PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

Reading—Second and Third Readers, and Supplementary work for first class, to be designated by the Board. Familiar talks about lesson before reading. Substance to be given in pupil's own language after reading. Special attention to pauses, pronunciation of new words, and naturalness of tone and manner.

Spelling—Primary Speller, and principal words of all reading lessons. Attention to syllabication and the marks used to indicate pronunciations.

Arithmetic—Continuation of the subject as presented in Robinson's first book, (the book for the use of teachers only,) with slate and blackboard work in addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division of numbers of reasonable size.

Geography—Oral instruction daily in descriptive geography, with explanations and illustrations of place, directions, distances, &c., with the use of globe, maps, and blackboard, as nearly as may be, after the following order :

1. Location of school-house, yard, street, and familiar objects, on board, and copied on slates. Explain maps and method of forming them.
2. Points of compass, direction of streets, river, mountains, railroads, and other familiar objects.
3. The earth as a whole, its form, size, surface, grand divisions of land and water, with information of interest pertaining to each.

4. Definitions of principal forms of land and water; to be illustrated when possible.
5. Map of North America, general boundaries, divisions of land water, countries, mountains, lakes, rivers, &c., and their relative positions from one another.
6. General information concerning the geography, government, institutions, and products of Pennsylvania and of United States.
7. Interesting facts about countries, mountains, people, oceans, lakes, rivers, and cities, (no book to be used by pupils on this subject.)

Oral Instruction—Review exercises on form, color, size, weight, number, and qualities of objects, and short daily lessons on some of the following topics :

1. Materials—as hay, straw, wood, stone, bricks, glass, cotton, wool, clay, silk, leather, &c. ; where and how obtained, and how used.
2. Trades and occupations, materials and tools used, and articles produced.
3. Grains, seeds, fruits, vegetables, dyes, spices, &c. ; history, nature, use.
4. Animals, birds, fishes, insects ; their food, habits of life, and use to man.
5. Honesty, obedience, kindness, patience, good manners, cleanliness, care of books, clothes, body, health, &c.

Language—Pupils to be taught to speak and write correctly any sentence which they may be required to use.

Writing—On slates ; first class, Tracing books Nos. 2 and 3. Trace without ink, until familiar with the forms of the letters, and movements of the hand.

Music—As directed by the Committee on Teachers, Examinations, and Transfers.

Drawing—Industrial drawing, books Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4.

Calisthenics—Same as previous grade.

NOTE—This grade will embrace the work of the preceding grade in buildings in which there is no sub-primary.

SECONDARY SCHOOLS.

Reading—Third and Fourth Readers: Attention to articulation, emphasis, natural tones of voice, and meaning of lesson. Book of Nature, part 1, additional for first class. In this, special attention shall be called to the subject matter.

Spelling—Advanced Speller, eighty-five pages, all difficult words in the reading lessons. Written exercises in dictation, attention to syllabication, and marks used to indicate pronunciation.

Arithmetic—Review addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division, by the use of simple practical problems and business transactions, combining these operations. Important terms, principles, and methods, to be thoroughly explained and illustrated, as needed. Robinson's Rudiments, second classes common fractions and United States money; first classes to page 152, with much additional work, involving principles gone over, and a thorough oral drill on each subject. The easier problems, or similar ones, in any of the Mental Arithmetics to be used by the teacher for this purpose, (the pupils to have no books in oral arithmetic, and the work to be kept within their comprehension.)

Geography—Primary completed, with explanations and illustrations by the use of globes, maps, and blackboard. Descriptive part to be used as a reading exercise. Attention to the following:

1. Definitions, map exercises, and descriptive part, to be taught together when possible.
2. The relative positions of countries and places to one another on the map, their natural and political boundaries or limits, direction of rivers, mountains, coast lines, &c,
3. Use constantly matter of local, natural or historic interest in connection with countries, mountains, rivers, cities, &c.
4. Waste no time on unimportant matter or insignificant out-of-the-way places or things.

Language—Language primer, with correction of errors of speech. Not fewer than three lessons weekly.

Oral Instruction—In value and use of coins, simple mathematical figures, weights and measures, minerals, &c.

Writing—Copy-book, Nos. 2 and 3. At least three exercises each week. Attention to length and slope of letters, and directions in copy-books.

Music—As directed by the Committee.

Drawing—Industrial Drawing, books, Nos. 5, 6, 7, 8.

INTERMEDIATE SCHOOLS.

Reading—Fourth and Fifth Readers; Book of Nature, part 2, alternated with reader by first class. Special attention to clearness of enunciation, emphasis, proper pitch, and natural tones of voice, and the meaning and force of words.

Spelling—Advanced Speller, with promiscuous exercises from reader, words in general use, special attention to words of same pronunciation but different spelling.

Arithmetic—Review, with more comprehensive work, the subject taught in previous grade. Progressive Practical, through Compound Numbers, (omitting Longitude and Time, and Duodecimals.) Also, Simple Interest, with as much percentage as may be required to teach it intelligently; all thoroughly reviewed. Second class, complete division of Compound Numbers, omitting Denominate Fractions.

Oral Arithmetic—Same subject at same time.

Geography—Intermediate, with use of Globe and Outline Maps. Descriptive part read and discussed in connection with map exercises.

1. Special attention to the earth as a whole, its motions, seasons, latitude, longitude, zones, climate, distribution of land and water, people, routes of commerce and travel.

2. Countries ought to be studied in reference to their surface, drainage, climate, productions, manufactures, inhabitants, governments, and institutions.

3. Special attention to the map of Pennsylvania, and to the natural products, manufactures, industries, climate, government, and institutions of the State.

4. Unimportant places in map exercises, statistics, and matter of no permanent value, should not be allowed to take up much time.

Language—Language Lesson; four lessons weekly; particular attention to,

1. Declension of Nouns and Pronouns, and Conjugation of Verbs.
2. Principal parts of Irregular Verbs, and the use of Tenses.
3. Stress upon the proper arrangement of modifying words and phrases.
4. Exercises in composition, original and from dictation ; letter writing, business papers, &c.

5. Reproduction of reading lesson, either oral or written, with correction of pupils' errors of speech.

Oral Instruction—With illustrations in—

1. Mathematical figures—triangle, square, circle, &c., &c.
2. Measures of length, surface, volume, extension, time, &c.
3. Measures of capacity—name, size, shape, use, resemblance, and difference of denominations.
4. Measures of weight—name, size, use, and difference of denominations.

Writing—Copy-book, Nos. 3 and 4½; attention to the instructions given in copy-books.

Music—As directed by the Committee.

Drawing—Industrial Drawing, books Nos. 9 and 10.

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS.

Reading—Fifth Reader, Book of Nature, part III, and U. S. History. Attention to subject matter of the lesson, and general principles of Elocution.

Spelling—Miscellaneous—Techinal terms from text-books, arts and sciences, proper names from History and Geography.

Arithmetic—Review thoroughly the work of previous grade. Progressive Practical finished; omitting Duodecimals, Alligation, Custom-House business, Exchange, Cube Root, Arithmetical and Geometrical progressions, and Partial Payments, except U. S. Rule. Oral Arithmetic to keep pace with written.

Grammar—Language Lessons reviewed. Advanced Grammar used, so as to cover Conjugations and Declensions, and the general principles of Etymology, Syntax, and Analysis.

History—History of U. S. with allied Geography, and careful reading of the Constitution, with conversational explanations.

Book-Keeping—First Class, Single Entry, not less than three lessons weekly.

Writing—Copy-books Nos. 5 and 7 for boys, and 8 and 9 for girls. Attention to instructions given in books. When the books have been finished, the copies are to be detached and written again, with precision and care, in books made of foolscap paper.

Music—As directed by the Committee.

Drawing—Industrial Drawing Books, Nos. 11 and 12 for girls, and Mechanical Drawing for boys.

Composition and declamation, or recitation, each once a month.

GENERAL DIRECTIONS.

Informal lectures on Morals and Manner, as occasion offers.

Declamation in Boys' Intermediate and Grammar grades, twice a month.

In Primary, Secondary, Intermediate, and Grammar grades, the work is intended to cover two years, and it is desirable that teachers endeavor to maintain uniformity in the kind and amount of work done by the second classes in these schools during the first year, and that not more be attempted than can be done with reasonable accuracy and thoroughness.

MARKING SYSTEM.

That the system of marking be obligatory in the Intermediate, Grammar, and High Schools of this city.

That monthly reports be sent to parents and guardians, except in the case of the High Schools, from which reports shall be sent to parents and guardians once every two months.

These reports shall indicate to the parent or guardian, the pupils' standing in the school in respect to attendance, punctuality, conduct, industry, progress, and scholarship.

Records shall be kept in such permanent form by the teachers of these schools as will enable them to furnish reliable information on these subjects.

All blank-books and blanks for keeping these records and making out reports will be furnished by the Board.

It shall be optional for the present with the teachers of the Primary and Secondary Schools to keep such records and send such reports to the parents of their pupils.

The crediting of pupils who have striven to excel shall be noticed as follows: That a pupil of the High School reaching 90 per cent. in all the studies pursued, be marked distinguished, and pupils reaching 80 per cent in all the studies be marked meritorious, and so published when the diplomas are awarded to the graduates at the annual commencement.

In order to further carry out the idea of the marking system, and, if possible, to lessen absenteeism, that in the monthly reports of the teacher of the High Schools a pupil shall be marked with a cipher if absent from any recitation for any cause, and that that cipher shall be regarded in making up the aggregate percentage during the time for which the report is made.
